

PB Enterprises

As the recent boom in capital works across the Perth metropolitan area continues to grow, local earth carting businesses have taken advantage of work opportunities, including PB Enterprises.

The company, which has been established for only three years, is sharing in the large amount of subcontracting work across Perth. Owner Paul Topping says he began working in the industry by transporting a range of materials for another business, but his business became successful very quickly, which enabled him to purchase two Western Star vehicles.

"I had worked with a Western Star truck before and was impressed by them. I still did a lot of homework before I decided to focus on the Western Star trucks and discovered that the Western Star offered the best value while being very adaptable to the changing demands that I encounter on a daily basis with Effective Transport," Paul said.

"Once I chose the brand of vehicle that I was looking for I contacted David Robinson at AV Truck Services who help spec the new Western Star to suit my requirements including my choice of the 14 litre Detroit Diesel engine and ABS brakes."

PB Enterprises is assisting in the delivery of limestone and general sand materials for roadworks and Paul said his Western Star has consistently performed well.

The Western Star trucks also provides a strong fuel economy, while the Groeneveld automatic greasing system eliminates the need to perform weekly greasing maintenance.

"Of course I still have to grease the drive train but the rest of the components are sorted out with the Groeneveld and both my drivers Bob and Lee really look after the gear which certainly helps," Paul added.

PB Enterprises is striving to grow its business further and expects to work closely with

AV Trucks to develop a fleet of vehicles, enabling the company to meet demands of Western Australia's boom period. ●
